

Sky Guide – The first guide to airspace

Geneva, 15 December 2022 – To mark the 100th anniversary of Swiss air navigation services, Skyguide is publishing the "Sky Guide" together with the publishing house vatter&vatter. The Sky Guide looks back on the first flight experiments and sheds light on the future of efficient and ecological aviation. The guide offers ideas for successful excursions, aviation anecdotes and tips and tricks for travelling in airspace.

People have been travelling through the air for centuries. At first only in their minds, then with ever more advanced flying machines and aircraft. Aviation began more than 100 years ago and has developed rapidly to this day.

The Sky Guide takes you into the past, present and future of aviation, tells you about phenomena in the airspace and gives tips for excursions to destinations around aviation. "We all live under the same sky, but have different horizons. At Skyguide, we live by the motto 'beyond horizons' and have reflected this broadening of horizons in the travel guide," says Alex Bristol, CEO of Skyguide.

Instead of a classic anniversary publication, Skyguide is deliberately publishing a travel guide. The Sky Guide accompanies readers into the fascinating world of airspace. A space full of colours and phenomena, full of myths and moons, full of winds and realities. "Reading means travelling to distant worlds. With the Sky Guide, the journey through the skies leads into the space above the land and water of our earth, which extends for around 100 kilometres above the earth's surface," says Matthias Vatter, Managing Director of the publishing house vatter&vatter AG.

The 132-page Sky Guide is now available in English, German and French in all Swiss bookshops or from the publisher vatter&vatter from CHF 20.-.

For editors: The Sky Guide can be ordered for a book review via presse@skyguide.ch with details of name, medium and shipping address as well as planned publication date.

Skyguide
Swiss Air Navigation Services Ltd
Route de Pré-Bois 17
CH-1215 Geneva 15

+41 22 417 40 08
presse@skyguide.ch
skyguide.ch

Skyguide is committed to providing safe, efficient and sustainable air traffic management in Switzerland and adjacent parts of neighbouring countries. With its 1,500 professionals at 14 locations, the company guides civil and military flights through Europe's busiest airspace. Through innovation and trustworthy partnerships Skyguide enhances Switzerland's appeal as a place to live, work and do business. The company is majority-owned by the Swiss Confederation and headquartered in Geneva.